SUMMARY

Full Stack Web Developer that remains calm under pressure and ensures quality product no matter the circumstance. Recently earned a certificate in full stack development from Southern Methodist University, with newly developed front-end and back-end web development skills in JavaScript, CSS, React.js, and responsive web design. Known as a hard worker and fast learner, I developed a passion for web development that has left me with no other option but to pursue a career in the field. I aim to engage my audience as well as make readable and understandable code in order to continue to better and monitor all of my applications. I recently implemented aspects of agile and UX design in a project to find a location in the middle of two given locations. I am looking forward to joining a fast paced high quality web development team and helping contribute, learn and gain experience with a team as passionate about quality as I am.
